Foreign Alumni Roster Planned By Dr. Shapira

In order that both Tufts students and graduates may feel more at home and be assured of some connections when traveling abroad, Dr. Elliot Shapira, member of the Romance Languages Department and Counselor for Foreign Students, has been working on an unusual plan.

Dr. Shapira has delegated two of his students, Ayalew Mandefero of Ethiopia and George Zervoglos of Greece to help him on this project. This three-man group, along with a few other foreign students and some prominent alumni, has undertaken the publishing of a booklet containing the names and addresses of all foreign students graduated from Tufts.

It is hoped that this plan will help formulate Tufts Alumni clubs throughout the world. These clubs, with the list of names, will provide Tuftsmen with connections and will enable them to seek out other alumni in foreign countries.

To appreciate fully the job which lies ahead of those working there are 175 foreign students enrolled at Tufts University, representing 48 nations. Multiplying this number by the years the school has had foreign enrollment would result in a large number.
