International club wants to attract new members

Tufts Observer, Mar. 22, 1974

The International Club is in the midst of a revitalization that will hopefully attract new members, and possibly some old ones, as well.

Last week, the club's president, and hitherto only member, Farzad Sayan, attempted to bring the group back to life by calling a meeting and selecting an organizational committee. The committee is expected to organize all activities this Spring, including an International Soiree and other parties.

'elections of officers at the recent meeting with Farzad Sayan elected president in spite of widespread talk of impeachment. Bahman Akhavan was elected vice-president, Harry Elhardt chairman of social activities, Maria Sagramoso treasurer and someone named Fran as elected secretary.

The International Club is anxious to take in new members, especially Americans, that the true purpose of the club could be realized. That purpose has purportedly been to bring foreigners to become a part of the community and vice-versa on the assumption that something is to be gained from both. It is hoped that some interest might be extracted from amidst the general apathy.
