International Student Loan Fund Named

President Jean Mayer and international students at Tufts last night dedicated an international students' emergency loan fund in honor of an Iranian student who died last year while at Tufts. The fund was renamed for Laila Moshiri-Yazdi, j82, who was killed in an automobile accident last spring.

Dedication ceremonies took place at the President’s House, with the late student’s father and brother, Mohammad and Abdul Moshiri-Yazdi, in attendance.

The fund, originally established through the International Club, is designed to meet occasional emergency financial needs of foreign students at Tufts. Resources available through the fund have been augmented through a contribution from the father of Laila Moshiri-Yazdi, made in her memory.
